Long-Range Requirements for MC&G

25X1

2. Mr.  reported on developments in the DoD on the above subject. After considerable discussion, it was agreed that in the first instance the requirements should be stated as such, without reference to systems analysis. It was recognized that after the Board had approved the requirements there would have to be a continuing interchange between the R&D elements and the Board in order to evaluate trade-offs and to determine a satisfactory level of collection to meet requirements. (The Chairman suggests that the DIA paper on the above subject be available for dissemination around the first week of September.)

3. It was agreed that the NRO should be advised on the above subject that the preferred altitude is 115 nautical miles, plus or minus ten miles; preferably a circular orbit; launch between 15 September and 15 October; and priorities as now presented on the AMS map (this map to be subject to possible modifications by 1 September).

5. [Redacted] Chairman of Sanitization and Decontrol Working Group, met with the MCGWG to discuss the above subject. He pointed out that the community is in agreement with regard to the DIA proposals for revision of the MCG annexes to the Manual. It is anticipated that this should in the near future be resolved at the Board level. In response to a question from Mr. [Redacted] he pointed out that the DIA has the initiative to make proposals with regard to the maps required for NATO but that obviously such proposals should take into account the limitations established by the information specified in the TDI.
